Salmo 150 (sung in Latin)

Ernani Aguiar

Praise the Lord in his sacred places,
Praise him in the firmament of his power.
Praise him for his mighty acts,
Praise him according to his excellent greatness.
Praise him with the sound of the trumpet,
Praise him with the psaltery and the harp.
Praise him with the timbrel and the dance,
Praise him with the strings and pipes.
Praise him with high-sounding cymbals,
Praise him with cymbals of joy.
Let everything that has breath praise the Lord!
— Psalm 150

*Hymn

O God, Our Help in Ages Past

Ascribed to William Croft, 1708

Text from Psalm 90

Song Leader: Leslie Rhodes, Master in Teaching

O God, our help in ages past,
Our Hope for years to come,
Our Shelter from the stormy blast,
And our eternal Home.

Before the hills in order stood,
Or earth received her frame,
From everlasting, Thou art God,
To endless years the same.

A thousand ages in Thy sight
Are like an evening gone;
Short as the watch that ends the night
Before the rising sun.

Time, like an ever-rolling stream,
Bears all its sons away;
They fly forgotten, as a dream
Dies at the opening day.

O God, our Help in ages past,
Our Hope for years to come,
Be Thou our Guard while life shall last,
And our Eternal Home. Amen.

Academic Regalia

Academic regalia is a tradition dating from the Middle Ages, when long robes and hoods were everyday attire, designed to protect against the cold and drafts of medieval university halls. It remains the costume at some British universities.

The many variations in academic dress are not incidental, but are rich in meaning. Each costume represents both the degree held by the wearer and the institution that awarded it. While in Europe each university has been free to adopt whatever design it wished, a considerable degree of standardization has been achieved in the United States. Some of the elements of the code of academic dress follow.

HOOD: The hood, which is draped down the back, carries more symbolic significance than any other part of the costume. The border, extending over the shoulders to meet in a "V" at the front, indicates by its colors the discipline in which the degree was earned. Colors for some of the faculties are white (arts, letters, humanities); cream (social science); dark blue (philosophy); light blue (education); scarlet (theology); pink (music); golden yellow (natural science); lemon (library science); olive drab (business, accounting); and sage green (physical education).

The lining of the hood, partly exposed, is in the colors of the university that granted the degree (for Whitworth, red and black). Doctoral hoods are longer than those of master's degree recipients and have a wider border. Recipients of the bachelor's degree do not wear hoods.

GOWN: Black gowns are the rule, but a few universities use other colors. A doctor's gown is recognizable by three horizontal velvet bars on each sleeve, either in black or in the color of the discipline in which the degree was granted. Typically, a doctor's gown also has velvet panels down the front. The typical gowns for master's-degree and baccalaureate-degree candidates do not have decorated panels or sleeves.

CAP: The familiar hard-topped mortarboard, or "Oxford cap," has long been standard, but a soft tam is increasingly common. The tassels are usually black or the color of the discipline. The tassel on a doctor's cap is usually metallic gold.

The Banners

The banners carry the seals of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) and Whitworth College. Designed for the 1988 Commencement by Art Professor Walter "Spike" Grosvenor and constructed by Grosvenor, his wife, Erlene, and Art Professor Barbara Filo, these banners are a permanent part of the Commencement exercises.

Clarifications

(1) Participation in Commencement and inclusion in the Commencement program does not guarantee official granting of a degree. The Graduate Office or specific degree program verifies completion of all coursework and degree requirements for master's-degree candidates. The Registrar's Office performs the same function for baccalaureate-degree candidates.

(2) The official document verifying degree completion is the Whitworth College transcript, signed and sealed by the registrar.
